WHEATON BAGS ANOTHER TOWN.

A Sharp Sunday Engagement, in Which the Loss Was Considerable on Both Sides—Forward March Meets With Natural Obstacles and Rebel Shot.

Manilla, March 27.—The United States troops, under Brigadier General Lloyd Wheaton, captured the town of Malinta, beyond the Tullahan river, on Sunday, after a sharp fight.

Colonel Harry C. Egbert of the Twenty-second regular infantry was killed. Prince Lowenstein, formerly aide-de-camp on the staff of Brigadier General Miller at Iloilo, somehow got in front of the firing line and was shot in the side, dying almost instantly. A German who accompanied him was wounded.

The American casualties were much lighter than those of Saturday, the total losses thus far reported since the

BRIGADIER GENERAL WHEATON. engagement commenced being 45 killed and 145 wounded. General Wheaton entered Malinta, which is a small village of huts, at 1 o'clock p. m.

The United States gunboat Helena and other gunboats have been shelling Malabon, about a mile northwest of Calocan, for several hours.

The insurgents made a fierce resistance to the American advance up the railroad at Malinta. In addition to the fatal wounding of Colonel Egbert, several men of the Twenty-second infantry and several of the Oregon and Kansas regiments were killed.

Evidently anticipating a bombardment by the fleet, a thousand rebels vacated Malabon, leaving a few to burn the town. General Wheaton's brigade stretched out along the railroad from Calocan to the Tullahan river, was powerless to prevent the withdrawal, owing to the natural obstacles and to the strong opposition. A column of smoke at daybreak was the first intimation of the enemy's intentions, but others followed at various points, all soon blending in a dense, balloon-shaped cloud. The flames of burning rice mills and large buildings could be plainly seen from Calocan despite the strong sunlight.

DESTROYED THE TOWN.

By 1 o'clock in the morning the only building of importance not destroyed in the center of the town was a large stone church, but even at noon fresh fires were started among the native huts in the outskirts of Malabon, although the general exodus took place much earlier. Many of the rebels sought refuge in the suburbs of Navotas and Casag, or were driven inward by the shells of the Helena, Callao, Ningdapan and Laguna de Bay.

In the meantime General Wheaton's brigade held the railroad to the river, but was unable either to repair the bridge, which had been destroyed by the enemy, or to advance, owing to the opposition, and the hill on the other side.

General Wheaton's headquarters was a half mile south of the river, on the railroad. The opposite bank was protected by a blockhouse and intrenchments. Occasionally the artillery and infantry fired across the stream. Finally the engineers moved a construction train up to the bridge, the iron framework of which remained, and began to replace the floor.

While this was going on the Second Oregon regiment crossed the river on the left and the Twenty-second on the right, with four companies of the Twenty-third infantry supporting the latter regiment. A rising clear ground stretched away a distance of half a mile to Malinta, situated on its crest.

In front of the village were strong Filipino intrenchments, but no Filipinos were to be seen. Apparently they had fled. The Twenty-second regiment approached diagonally, with General Wheaton and his staff close behind, and scouts closely observing the ground.

ADVANCED UNDER FIRE. When the Americans were within about 300 yards of the intrenchments the Filipinos suddenly volleyed heavily. The Twenty-second, which was holding the center, suffered considerably, but with the Oregon men on the left and the Kansas on the right in the woods, the fighting was kept up for half an hour, the Twenty-second infantry advancing up the slope through the thick grass under the hottest fire.

General Wheaton and his staff were all the time under a rain of bullets. Colonel Egbert, who was in the thickest of the fighting, was shot in the abdomen.

Though apparently their force was much smaller than that of the Americans, they had an immense advantage in position and in opportunity to retreat. General MacArthur's advance guard, the Third artillery and the Twentieth Kansas regiment, joined General Wheaton's brigade shortly after Malinta was taken.

The soldiers were much exhausted, and there were several prostrations from the heat, which was intense. The dead and wounded were collected in the shade of the trees and carried on stretchers by Chinese across the river to the train.

After lunch General MacArthur's division advanced toward Polo. The Second Oregon regiment encountered 1,000 Filipinos west of Malinta, who were retreating from Malabon. The enemy had taken up a position behind four rows of intrenchments, but was driven out after an hour's heavy firing. One Oregonian was killed and five were wounded.

The Third artillery, acting as infantry, with two guns of the Utah artillery, and the Kansas had a sharp fight east of Malinta. The Americans had but slight losses. Five Filipinos were found dead and several were taken prisoners.

General MacArthur's division is advancing upon Polo along the railroad. As the bridge is destroyed and the river cannot be forded the advance is temporarily checked.

Official From Ot's.

Washington, March 27.—The war department has received the following Manila cablegram General Otis: "MacArthur has driven the enemy, strongly entrenched in large force, north of Polo; will continue to press him. The insurgents have strong entrenchments from Calocan to Malolos, which have taken them months to construct. Attacks on Hall and pumping station easily repulsed. MacArthur with moving column has driven the enemy, but can not get in point north of Polo on account of roughness of country. Must strike railway south of that point. This will enable most of Aguinaldo's troops to escape north."

MacArthur's Advance.

Washington, March 27.—The war department received the following Manila cablegram from General Otis: "MacArthur's advance beyond Newcanayan, two miles beyond Polo, nine miles from Manilla and 15 miles from Malolos. Railroad will be repaired to advance point Tuesday and troops supplied by cars. MacArthur will press on Tuesday. He is now in open country. Insurgents stoutly resisting behind succeeding lines of intrenchments from which troops continually drive them. Captain Krayenbuh, commissary lieutenant, Third artillery, mortally wounded."

To Stand at Malolos.

Manilla, March 27.—The Filipinos are burning their stronghold at Malabon and their forces are fleeing from the city in the direction of Malolos. General MacArthur's division is pushing toward Malabon. The insurgents will make their last stand probably at Malolos.

Saturday's Casualties.

Manilla, March 27.—Entire casualties Saturday: One officer, 25 enlisted men killed; eight officers, 142 men wounded. Officer killed, Captain Stewart, First Colorado.

NOW BEHIND THE BARS

Desperadoes of Northwestern Ohio Saved From Mob.

SURRENDERED TO MILITIA

After Holding a Furious Crowd at Bay For Many Hours.

THEY RAN SHY OF AMMUNITION.

Escorted by Troops and Deputies, the Brother Outlaws Are Marched Twenty Miles to Jail Amid Hostile Demonstrations—Story of Remarkable Affair.

Bowling Green, O., March 27.—John and Paul Zeltner are now in jail here. Peaceable methods finally prevailed.

It is doubtful if the capture would have been effected except for the fact that the Zeltners were nearly out of ammunition and they knew surrender was the only method of saving themselves from an infuriated mob.

The militia had planned to make a stand about daylight, the men being stationed around the house to prevent the Zeltners from picking the men off. Several narrow escapes from bullets happened during the evening for the Zeltners, being German sharpshooters, were picking out and shooting at every one venturing within 500 yards.

Ex-Sheriff Biggs of Bowling Green went to Hoytsville during the night to see Attorney Hood, whom the Zeltners wished to consult. Hood promised to go to the house at daylight, but when the time came he refused to go, evidently fearing that the Zeltners would shoot any one approaching the place.

At 5:30 a. m. ex-Sheriff Biggs, accompanied by a neighbor named Brown, started toward the house. They walked the distance alone. The Zeltners offered no resistance to their approach and admitted them to the house. Mr. Biggs plainly told them that the militia was ready to make an attack on the house and they would be compelled to surrender and they had better give up peaceably. The Zeltners seemed not disposed at first to give up and stated that they feared the mob, 200 of which remained outside the militia lines. They tried to induce Mr. Biggs to accompany them through the timber, but he refused, and they were told they would not be molested if they gave up their arms and accompanied him to jail.

After a half hour's talk they agreed and Sheriff Kingsbury was notified. He at once made arrangements to accord the Zeltners the protection of the militia and a special train was ordered to Custer to convey them to jail.

The Zeltners gave up their arms. Each was provided with a repeating rifle and a revolver. There were 75 rounds of rifle ammunition and two boxes of revolver cartridges left in the house.

The men were taken from the house and conveyed to the train, and under the protection of the militia and Sheriff Kingsbury and deputies they were taken to the Bowling Green jail without molestation. A crowd of about 1,000 people met the train, but there was no demonstration. At the jail the Zeltners were very reticent, and did not care to talk of the matter, only saying that they regretted the death of Clarence Wettenmyer, who was killed during the attack on the house.

WHOLE AFFAIR PREMEDITATED.

Developments since the capture of John and Paul Zeltner indicate that they not only deliberated over the bloody defiance of law, but also prepared for it by having a large stock of ammunition in their residence, two miles from Hoyt's Corners. E. H. Westenhaver, ex-solicitor of North Baltimore, had been their attorney in numerous cases and sued them for his fees. The jury and witnesses had been sworn before Justice Burgoon in the township house at Hoyt's Corners, in Westenhaver's suit to recover fees, when Paul Zeltner demanded some papers of Westenhaver and attempted to take them from his pocket. John Zeltner then joined in demanding the papers and immediately fired the fatal shot that killed Westenhaver.

As the Zeltners had their horses ready for mounting and escape, it is thought that they had arranged to get Westenhaver into a fight for the purpose of "doing him up." The Zeltners kept up their firing till they mounted their horses and continued it as hundreds of citizens pursued them for two miles to their residence. After they reached their house they kept up a constant firing during the rest of the day and during the night. They not only went to the trial fully armed, but they had ammunition at home for continued fusillades and still had left a large stock on hand.

While the feeling is intense around North Baltimore on account of the murder of Westenhaver, it is equally intense around Hoyt's Corners on account of the killing of their neighbor, Clarence Wettenmyer, who was with the sheriff's posse. When Wettenmyer fell valley after valley was poured into the crowd from the upper story of the Zeltner house and the Zeltners knew they were firing on their neighbors as well as on the sheriff and his deputies. Before the arrival of troops during the night a cannon used in shooting oil tanks when they are on fire and a quantity of nitroglycerin had been secured, so that there would have been trouble after sunrise if the troops had not arrived.

The Zeltner brothers and their families were no doubt saved by the prompt arrival of troops under the orders of Governor Bushnell. The troops stood between the firing from the house and the enraged crowds, and not only captured the desperadoes but also protected them from violence all the way from the southern boundary of this county to the jail here, a distance of over 20 miles, with excitement at the highest pitch all along the route.

In connection with the participation of the two women and four children in the Zeltner barricaded house, it is stated as further proof of deliberation that the Zeltners transferred their farms and other property on Friday to Mrs. John Zeltner.

COMPTON'S MISSION.

To Hawaii Is Said to Be in Reference to Crown Lands.

San Francisco, March 27.—The mission of General Charles Compton to the Hawaiian islands is the subject of great speculation in federal circles in this city. General Compton sailed on the Alameda a few days ago for Honolulu. While no one is in a position to explain authoritatively the purpose of the distinguished soldier's journey, it is understood from excellent sources that he has gone to Honolulu to seize the crown lands of the former monarchy, and by authority of the American government settle a dispute of ownership that involved property worth millions of dollars.

Stage Robber Shot.

Stockton, Cal., March 27.—Two highwaymen have made an unsuccessful attempt to hold up the Angels' Camp stage near Alta, Calaveras county. Messengers Jackson and McConnell of Well-Fargo company's express were in the coach, and when the order to halt was given they began shooting. A bullet from Jackson's rifle probably fatally wounded one of the bandits, who was identified as Bob Murphy, a wood chopper. His companion will probably be captured.

Killed His Wife in a Nightmare.

Tacoma, Wash., March 27.—Dr. Charles Corey shot and killed his wife while the two were lying asleep. Corey was ill and his story of the affair is that he was laboring under a nightmare, believing his wife was being pursued by a stranger who was intent on killing her. The relations between Corey and his wife have been very affectionate and the authorities believe his story. He is nearly mad with grief.

THREE MEN FATALLY HURT.

Engine and Large Number of Cars Completely Destroyed in a Rear-End Collision—Efforts to Fix the Responsibility.

Pittsburg, March 27.—A freight wreck on the Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad at Jack's Run, just below the city, resulted in the death of two men, the probable fatal injury of another and the complete destruction of an engine and 10 freight cars. The loss to the company is about $25,000. The dead men are: James A. Bracken, engineer, and James R. Lowe, fireman, both of Pittsburg. C. F. Bradenbaugh, a brakeman, is hurt internally and will probably die. The Fort Wayne train was standing still when an extra freight on the Pennsylvania railroad heavily laden came dashing up behind at the rate of 30 miles an hour and crashed into it.

The telegraph operator and signal man both claim to have signalled the extra to stop, but no attention was paid to their warnings. Some of the trainmen think the engineer must have fallen asleep at his post.

ENTITLED TO RAIL.

Participants of Street Riot at Hot Springs Will Not Be Jailed.

At a meeting held by the Democratic State Executive Committee in the city of Lexington on March 8th, 1899, it was ordered that a state convention be held in Louisville on Wednesday, June 21st, 1899, for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for State officers to be voted for November 7th, 1899, the convention to be called to order at 11 o'clock a. m.

In counties having more than one legislative district there shall be a convention for each legislative district to be held at some convenient point to be indicated by the Chairman of the Legislative District Committee, who shall advertise in the local papers the location for said convention at least ten days prior to the date fixed by this committee. Said county and legislative district conventions shall be held at 2 o'clock p. m., standard time, on June 17th, 1899. Said conventions shall be called to order by the Chairman of the respective County or Legislative District Committees.

If Governor Bradley quits the State and Dr. Godfrey Hunter retires from politics, Kentucky Republicans may get together.

WAR Department officials now reluctantly admit that at least 50,000 troops will be needed in the Philippines to repress the insurgents and restore order. This "expansion" business is going to prove a costly venture.

By the organization of the American School Furniture Company at Wabash, Ind., twelve large manufacturing plants will be absorbed, among them three factories in Indiana, one of which will be closed. Of course the trusts are to benefit the workmen.

DR. GODFREY HUNTER, Minister from the United States to Honduras and Guatemala, surprised a party of his friends with the declaration that he was out of politics for good, is the interesting information contained in a special from Louisville. Another prominent Republican once made a similar statement as to himself to the BULLETIN but he continues to wield a stronger influence to-day in Republican affairs than all the other politicians of his district.

DR. FRAZEE.

The Prospects Bright For His Nomination For State Commissioner of Agriculture.

Dr. Frazee returned Friday after spending several days in Central Kentucky pushing his canvass for Commissioner of Agriculture. He has met with encouragement on most every hand, and feels that he stands an excellent show for the nomination.

Winchester Democrat: "Dr. J. M. Frazee, of Maysville, a candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture, was mixing with our citizens here Thursday. He made a fine impression and will have many friends here on convention day."

Morganfield Sun, March 17th: "Hon. J. M. Frazee, who is a candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture, subject to the action of the Democratic party, was in this city last Monday mingling with the people. Mr. Frazee is not a politician, in the machine sense, but a clever gentleman who believes the people should select their nominees and officers, and not self-appointed bosses. He made a most favorable impression here and left behind him quite a number of warm friends."

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50c. at J. J. Wood & Son's drug store.

MESSRS. CHARLES TUCKER, Wm. Lohstroh, James Mowell and Elmer Kirker have been selected to represent Noah Dove Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Newport, at the State Encampment to be held in May in this city. The delegates have been instructed to use their influence to secure the State Encampment of 1900 for Newport.

At a conference of the Grand Master, Grand Secretary, Grand Representative James, Grand Treasurer Morris and several Louisville Oddfellows on Saturday, March 18, it was agreed that the charter and effect of the Grand Lodge should be returned to Louisville and the Grand Secretary be allowed to transact routine business at Lexington. It is thought this will end the controversy of recent date, and no other action will be taken until the Grand Lodge session in Paducah, next August.

MISS HENRIETTA DAVIS was one of the guests of honor at a reception by the Kaffee Klatch of Portsmouth given Thursday at the home of Mrs. Simon Labold. The Times says: "Among the pleasures of the afternoon was 'ballet dancing' and recitations by the charming little daughter of the household, Miss Leona Labold. The music for the dancing was furnished by three excellent performers, Miss Davis, Mrs. Moses Lehman and Miss Labold. Much enjoyment was also derived from a new game called 'Modeling in Wax.' The prize, a dainty fan calendar, was won by Mrs. A. Mayer, who cut for it with Miss Davis. * * * At the conclusion of the feast an impromptu cake walk took place. The prizes were won by Mrs. A. Mayer and Miss Davis."

"PEEPING TOM" SHOT.

A Pestiferous Individual at Flemingsburg Gets What He Deserved—Caught in the Act.

FLEMINGSBURG, Ky., March 25.—Conway Applegate was shot in the leg here last night by Alex. M. Dudley while caught in the act of peeping through a window at the home of the latter's parents, N. S. Dudley and wife.

Applegate was wounded badly, but is not dangerously injured.

The shooting is the result of long annoyance by a peeping Tom, who has infested the town for some two or three years. Applegate had been caught at the practice of peeping several times before and had been warned to desist. Women and children have been frightened time and again, and a number of loaded shotguns have been in readiness for the culprit.

Applegate will be prosecuted, though it is understood no charge more serious than trespassing can be brought against him.

RAY'S COUGH SYRUP is a guaranteed cure.

SOME OF THE NEW SUITS.

The very best last season could show is wholly unimportant compared with the new spring gowns we are displaying. So handsome; so easy to buy. No worry about the making; no doubt about their correctness in every detail. To particular women, to women of taste we especially appeal. We assure handsome designs, stylish cloths, desirable colors. Your spring gown can be selected and made ready to wear in an hour so, Easter will find you, like nature, newly clothed. Most of the gowns are priced around the $10 and $15 mark, but there are pleasant surprises at $18, $20 and $25. Description is unnecessary at this time. Come expecting to see good taste and careful workmanship realized. You know our position in the matter of women's ready-to-wear dress. We shall emphasize it now. Our selections were made from the best Eastern houses. Paris may lead in matters of elaborate dress, but even Paris designers admit, in tailor-made gowns, New York dictates to the world.

A child can buy as well as a man. If you can't come, send, send the boy to see us. Be sure he will be treated kindly and honestly; price will be the same to him as to you—we'll help him all we can and if you don't like the lad's selection there's the money back for the asking. We always treat the boys well, for some day they'll grow up, then we'll want to sell them our celebrated men's garments.

THE FIRE FIEND.

Brooksville Visited by Another Destructive Fire This Morning.

The Bank Building, Two Drug Stores and Several Law Offices, Residences and Other Buildings Burned.

Brooksville, the county seat of Bracken
County, is playing in hard luck.

The place was visited a few weeks ago
by a fire that destroyed ten or fifteen business houses and residences.

This morning early another disastrous fire wrought havoc and ruin in the enterprising little city.

About 1 o'clock this morning flames were discovered in the rear portion of a residence owned by Commonwealth Attorney Ed. Daum, but occupied by another family.

Work as manfully and as heroically as they could, the citizens were unable to check the progress of the flames until the following buildings were destroyed:

- The Brooksville Bank.
- The Pythian Hall.
- Coulter's store.
- Barrett's new drug store.
- Bartram & Rees' drug store.
- Residence of Commonwealth's Attorney Daum.

- Mrs. Frank's grocery and dwelling.
- Miss Morford's dwelling.
- Hon. W. A. Byron's law office.
- Harry Willis' law office.
- H. C. Weaver's law office.
- Kinney's law office.

This probably does not include a complete list of the buildings destroyed.

A telephone message from Germantown places the loss at between $50,000 and $70,000.

The amount of insurance was not learned.

Mrs. L. V. DAVIS will have her spring and summer opening Wednesday and Thursday, March 29th and 30th.

Coal!

Wm. Wormald has just received a supply of freshly dug coal at 8 cents per

DIED SATURDAY.

The Wife of Mr. N. H. Lane of the West End Passes Away After a Lingering Illness.

Mrs. Isadore Lane, wife of Mr. "Doc" Lane, died Saturday morning at the home of the family in the West End.
She had been an invalid for some time,
suffering from a complication of troubles.
Deceased was a sister of Mrs. Godfrey Miller, of West Second street, and was about sixty years of age.

The funeral occurred this morning at 10 o'clock at the residence, Rev. Howard
T. Cree officiating. Burial in the Maysville Cemetery.

The Contemplated Retirement From a Long Business Career.

D. HECHINGER, nominally Hechinger & Co., are going to retire from business. In plain words are going to SELL OUT.

Fortunately for the people,
this step was not contemplated
until after their entire Spring stock (not less than $40,000 worth) was purchased and is in their house.

It is needless to say a word about the class of goods that will be thrown on the market. It is a patent fact, not only in our midst, but in the commercial world, that few merchants buy the uniformly high class of goods that Hechinger & Co.
have always bought.

The Retirement Sale Will Begin April 1st.

It will take until then to arrange our stock for the sale.

Every article in the house will be sold at net cost—no more nor less.

Our readers will most assuredly take advantage of this sale.

It's a Rare Occurrence

that a stock of Clothing, Men's furnishings and Men's and Boys' Footwear of such high character are thrown into a forced sale.

ELEVEN DAYS A CORPSE

Before Lifeless Body was Discovered—Miss Bertha Wilson Found Dead at Aberdeen Saturday.

Miss Bertha Wilson, aged about twenty-six years, was found dead Saturday forenoon at her home in Aberdeen.

She was last seen alive Wednesday afternoon, March 15th, and the condition of her body and the room where she was found indicated that death had come to her suddenly that afternoon.

She and a sister had been employed at a couple of homes in this county.
They owned a house in Aberdeen, part of which was rented to a Mr. Kibler and family. The sisters were in the habit of occupying a part of this house when in Aberdeen, and on the day named the deceased came in. She complained of not feeling well, and requested a member of the Kibler family to go down and see if there was any conveyance going to the neighborhood of the home of another one of her sisters, a Mrs. Porter, who resides back of Aberdeen, as she intended going out. That was the last seen of her. No conveyance from the Porter neighborhood was found.

The Kibler family not hearing any noise in Miss Wilson's room concluded
she had gone out to Mrs. Porter's.

Her single sister who is employed in this county not hearing from her, became uneasy and visited Aberdeen Saturday morning to make some inquiries. On attempting to enter their room, she found the door locked and key in the lock on inside. Another door leading from the Kibler part of the residence was then opened and the missing woman was found cold in death.

The body was resting on a sofa, in front of the grate where a fire had been started. One arm was resting on a chair near by, while her head rested on the other arm and hand.

There were no marks of violence and no evidence of suicide, and, as she had been subject to heart disease, the supposition is that after starting a fire and lying down on the couch she had been suddenly stricken and died almost without a struggle. The body was still well preserved, only one foot and one hand showing any marks of decomposition.

The remains were buried Sunday afternoon.

Deceased was a sister of Marion Wilson,
who was accidentally killed some years ago by a street car in this city. Mrs.
Nathan Sidwell of this county is a sister of deceased.

MME. SCALCHI.

A Large and Cultured Audience Greeted the Noted Contralto at the Opera House
Saturday Night.

The event of the season, the appearance of Mme. Scalchi and her concert company at the opera house Saturday night, was enjoyed by a large and cultured audience; to which Flemingsburg, Mayslick, Washington, Tuckahoe and many other surrounding towns contributed.

Mme. Scalchi's marvelous contralto—one might almost say baritone—is apparently untouched by time, and in the Rigoletto quartette, and the familiar "Home to Our Mountains" was heard to the best advantage, perhaps.

Every number of Signor Alberti's was intensely enjoyed. His rendition of the Toreador's song from Carmen was superb.

In the fourth act of "Trovatore" the absence of an orchestra was sadly felt,
the tenor flattening most distressingly in the immortal "Ah, che le morte," notwithstanding the noble efforts of Mr.
Pick upon the piano.

Lively Bidding.

Mt. Olivet Advance: "Six tobacco buyers, representing trusts and anti-trusts, warehouses and home merchants, accidentally met at the barn of L. D. Burrs at the same time. Of course each could not take Mr. Burns by the arm and lead him aside, so some one proposed that the crop be auctioned off to the highest bidder. One of the gentlemen agreed to act as auctioneer. The bidding was most spirited, and when the hammer fell the price was so much beyond what Mr.
Burns asked that he gladly accepted.
The case is perhaps without precedent in the State."

Y. M. C. A. Notices.

are asked to meet in reception room this
